Ionic and covalent bonds are a piece of cake for MJ. But human bonds are a little harder ...

There are only two things MJ wants in her final year of high school:

- 1) Glowing grades and ...
- 2) to convince uber-smart, chiselled-jaw Jason they'd be a winning team outside the science lab as well as in.

Tutoring deadbeat drummer, Luke, isn't part of the plan. After all, he has average intelligence, takes disorganised notes and looks like a partied-out zombie at their study sessions! Not even his taut biceps will win MJ over.

But MJ learns that she could be tutored in a few life lessons too: That sometimes there's good reason to skip chemistry tutorials. That intelligence is so much more than a grade average.

And that sometimes you can't beat the chemistry.

Kat Colmer is a Sydney-based Young Adult author who writes coming-of-age stories with humour and heart. The recipient of several writing awards, her debut YA The Third Kiss won the Romance Writers of America On the Far Side contest for best Young Adult Paranormal Romance.

Kat has a Master of Education in Teacher Librarianship and loves working with teens and young adults. Having spent a significant portion of her childhood in Germany, Kat speaks fluent German and is looking forward to the day she'll be able to read one of her novels in Deutsch. When not writing, teaching or reading the latest in YA fiction, Kat spends time with her husband and two children.
